PRACTICE LEADER: SCIENCE + TECHNOLOGY

QUALIFICATIONS

As Science + Technology practice leader, Dan specializes in helping entities in the life science market plan for the future of their facilities. He does this by analyzing factors such as company culture and market trajectory to create a cohesive, long-term strategy for future development.

Dan is also responsible for planning and project management at BAM. He oversees the preparation of construction documents and specifications, and assures an integrated architectural vision. As an advocate for BAM's client development, he also seeks out potential clients and educates them about the value our services bring in enabling the potential growth of their business.
